

Database Searching Tips

General search tip: Once you've performed a search in a database, use the navigation buttons/links within the database to go forward and backward. Do not use the back button on your internet/web browser. This might cause you to lose information.

Health Source

- Hint: Set your email and citation style by using the Preferences link.
- Hint: Limit searches to scholarly, peer-reviewed periodicals.
- Hint: Use the truncation key (*) to expand results.
- Hint: Use the Published Date option to limit search to a range of years.
- Hint: Create your own 'My EbscoHost' Account
- Hint: Use the Electronic ILL (Interlibrary Loan) request form when prompted at Check for full-text availability
- Hint: Use the Search history tab.
- Hint: Search multiple databases simultaneously.

ProQuest Biology Journals

- Hint: Limit searches to scholarly journals.
- Hint: Mark documents on the results screen or within the full text view.
- Hint: Use the My Research option to print, email, export citations or create bibliographies from your marked list.
- Hint: The information in My Research is saved until you log-off.

ProQuest Nursing and Allied Health Source

- Hint: Limit searches to scholarly journals.
- Hint: Mark documents on the results screen or within the full text view.
- Hint: Use the My Research option to print, email, export citations or create bibliographies from your marked list.
- Hint: The information in My Research is saved until you log-off.

ProQuest Science Journals

- Hint: Limit searches to scholarly journals.
- Hint: Mark documents on the results screen or within the full text view.
- Hint: Use the My Research option to print, email, export citations or create bibliographies from your marked list.
- Hint: The information in My Research is saved until you log-off.
- Hint: Search multiple databases simultaneously.

PubMed

Hint: Use the Limits tab to limit by publication date or by language

Hint: Enter additional search terms in the search box (no “And” or “Or” are required).

Hint: Use the Review articles tab to find Review articles.

Hint: View the Details tab to see how PubMed interpreted your search terms and to identify appropriate MeSH (subject) headings.

Hint: The Preview / Index tab allows you to explore terms in the MeSH database, or to add terms in specific fields (author, article title).

Academic Search Premier

Hint: Limit searches to scholarly, peer-reviewed periodicals.

Hint: Use the truncation key (*) to expand results.

Hint: Use the Published Date option to limit search to a range of years.

Hint: Create your own ‘My EbscoHost’ Account

Hint: Use the Electronic ILL request form

Hint: Use the Search history tab

Hint: Search multiple databases simultaneously

SAGE Journals Online

Hint: Select the ‘SAGE Content Available to Me’ for full text results.

Hint: To build a bibliography: check items from the result list then select the ‘Add to my marked citations’ bar.

To view marked list select the ‘View/Edit My Marked Citations’ radio button and select ‘Go’.